

HIGH-QUALITY
ROOFING SLATE

With over 40 years in the business, American Slate has become one of the largest slate roofing suppliers in the United States. The company was founded in California in 1979 and was purchased by Vermont Slate Company in 2016. American Slate sources the highest quality roofing slate from the most reputable quarries, including Spain, Vermont, Brazil, and other strategic regions around the world. We supply slate to Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington from our warehouse in Southern California.

Discover the enduring beauty of our natural slate products. With a lifespan over a century, eco-friendly production, and minimal maintenance, our natural slate offers timeless elegance and sustainability in one. Choose natural slate for a roof that stands out and stands the test of time.

SUPERIOR DURABILITY

The most durable roofing material: more than 100 years of working life.

ECO FRIENDLY

The production process is highly efficient, and it does not use any chemicals.

NATURAL BEAUTY

Texture, shine, and beauty created by nature that cannot be imitated.

LOW MAINTENANCE

Slate maintenance is almost zero, which in the long run saves money.

Whether adorning a historic mansion or a modern architectural masterpiece, its timeless appeal transcends trends and fads, ensuring that a natural slate roof will remain as captivating and impressive as the day it was installed.

Mined from premiere quarries worldwide, our natural slate products are especially selected for their exceptional quality, ensuring a perfect combination of durability and aesthetic appeal in every installation. Nature has created slate with unique characteristics and aesthetics that set it apart, making it impossible for any other alternative to replicate its innate charm.
